K O K O M O
WINERY

with Erik and Kimia Miller
Wednesday, June 16th, 4PM - 7PM

Erik and Kimia Miller founded Kokomo in Dry Creek Valley in 2004, naming it after his beloved hometown of Kokomo, Indiana. Kokomo currently produces over twenty different varietals and several single-vineyard designates while focusing on terroir-driven wines from Sonoma County. They take pride in creating a comfortable place amidst their benchlands whenever you want to escape for a relaxed wine tasting. On Wednesday, June 16th between 4-7PM we are bringing them, and their wines from Sonoma County, Russian River, Dry Creek and Alexander Valleys to you.

While Kokomo has been coming and going from our shelves for a number of years (small production does not always allow us to stock all year), we are reminded of them often when we judge wine competitions. In a blind tasting, they always make themselves known by winning many gold medals.

They are a wonderful discovery every time we taste their wines, and offer incredible value, which speaks to their talent and humility.
